[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO AUGUST 24

Army Movements

LONDON, August 23.—A Paris correspondent telegraphs that Bazaine has succeeded in cutting the enemy's line and is retreating upon Montmedy by way of Anteuen and Loguior.

It is reported that the Crown Prince of Prussia has withdrawn his army from the direction of Paris and gone to support the Prussian army west of Metz, whose position is seriously threatened with a formidable attack from Bazaine, who is said to have been reinforced by McMahon.

Contradictory Rumors

NEW YORK, August 23.—A special from London of the 21 says: Private advices assert that the Chalons army has gone in the direction of Thionville in a desperate effort to effect a junction with Bazaine escaping the Crown Prince and passing the main German army to the north of Verdun.

McMahon is driven to a choice of two evils, either to leave the road to Paris open to the Crown Prince, or by holding it to the sacrifice of Bazaine's army.

PARIS, August 23.—Journals to-day say a dispatch is received from Bazaine in which he declares his intention of remaining near Metz without fighting. He admits his communications were at one time cut off, but asserts they are now secure.

A decree officially promulgated, declares the departments of Nievre and Cher in a state of siege.

The Constitutionel, semi-official authority, contradicts in positive terms the London Times report that the Empress Eugenie has sued for mediation of Queen Victoria.

Details of the battle of the 18th at Gravelotte are still wanting even at Berlin.

German dispatches to-day are meagre.

Strength of the German Forces

BERLIN, August 23.—The New York Herald special says the German forces in France having undergone a partial reorganization and reinforced and redistributed will go into battle in the following order: The first army under Steinmetz composed of the 1st, 7th, 8th and 9th Army Corps, amounting to 100,000 infantry and 28,000 cavalry. The second army under Prince Frederick Charles composed of the 2d, 3d, 4th, 10th and 12th Prussian Guards, Royal Saxon corps and Divisions of the Grand Duchy of Hesse. This is the strongest of the three armies. It contains forty-eight regiments of infantry, three batteries to each, and thirty-four regiments of cavalry. The aggregate is 220,000 men and 600 guns. The third army commanded by the Crown Prince is formed of the 2d Bavarian army corps under Gens. Tanen and Herman, one mixed corps of Baden and Wurtemburg troops commanded by Gen. Von Werden and also the 5th and 11th Prussian army corps. The grand total German forces in France is 520,000, divided into sixteen army corps.

Up to this time 300,000 landwehr have entered Alsace and Lorraine to invest and occupy places in the rear and relieve regular soldiers so that they may join their own regiments in front.

Orders have been issued to disband the veteran reserves called out at the commencement of the war.

Miscellaneous.

LONDON, August 23.—It is certain that a project has been brought forward by the Great Powers having for its object the prevention of the dismemberment of France.

The French government assures the Pope that Italy has no intention of attacking Rome. The Papal troops have been withdrawn from Campagna to defend the city.

The Bavarian government has forbidden the promulgation of the dogma of papal infallibility in that country.

A Combination to Send up the Price of Gold

NEW YORK, August 23.—A pool has been formed in gold. It is understood that they have bought up several millions abroad. The capital is $15,000,000, which it is expected it will take with a view of sending the price up. Heavy exports to Europe are an assistance as there is a demand in the west for currency to move crops. Price closed at 116½. Market is not active.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Fire at Corvallis

CORVALLIS, August 24.—Last night about one o'clock a stable belonging to Mr. Wm. Groves in this place was burned to the ground. Being very near other buildings heavy loss was only prevented by great efforts on the part of the citizens present. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

General Grant's Platform
From the New York Herald Aug. 5th

The platform of General Grant—[illegible] retrenchment of expenses, correction of abuses, reduction of taxes and redemption of the debt—is a very good platform for the republican party if they only knew it. There was no surplus, or next to no surplus, revenue under Johnson's administration, for Johnson was so absorbed in the work of defending the constitution as it was that he had no time to look after the interests of the Treasury. Hence the whiskey rings and various other rings for defrauding the revenue abstracted from the resources of the Treasury millions upon millions of money. Under Gen. Grant most of these leakages, if not all of them, have been stopped, and such has been the effect of this policy of practical reform connected with a general cutting [illegible] needless expenses, that with a reduction of the national taxations to the extent, if we are not mistaken, of over a hundred millions [illegible] since January 1868 [illegible] Grant's administration is enabled to present the following exhibit as its reductions of the public debt:

Public debt decrease for July last	$1 634 12[illegible]
Public debt decrease since March [illegible]	[illegible]
Public debt decrease during Grant's administration	106 135 84
Average monthly increase for 1867	43 31
Average monthly decrease for 1870	13 860 806

One hundred and fifty-six million reduction of the debt in a [illegible] the last and [illegible] one hundred [illegible] reserve fund in the Treasury [illegible] for Gen. Grant's administration [illegible] such facts make the strongest platform [illegible] platforms for the party in power. In short, the republican party, which was [illegible] lease of power in the election of Gen. Grant, can only maintain its [illegible] upon the safe, sound, honest [illegible] platform of Grant's administration—[illegible] retrenchment, reform, the level [illegible] resources, the reduction of our taxes and the redemption of the debt. While the ship of state [illegible] thus smoothly sailing, before the wind [illegible] may be [illegible] a little [illegible] refreshment which [illegible]

[illegible]

Operations have been commenced in the [illegible] which [illegible] The [illegible] Stage [illegible] fifty [illegible] each twenty [illegible] fifteen [illegible] the [illegible] supplied [illegible] charged [illegible] apparatus [illegible] formation of the hydrogen [illegible] will be [illegible] with them.

The South [illegible] The M[illegible] Messenger remarks:

This comes [illegible] to death and [illegible] wheat [illegible] everything [illegible] comfortably [illegible] through life.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

French Movements—Bazaine and McMahon Unite Their Forces

PARIS, August 23—Midnight.—La France in an extra makes the following statement: We are now at liberty to make public the fact that McMahon has joined Bazaine with a great number of troops. Bazaine has not yet abandoned his strong position near Metz. McMahon has moved north by way of Rheims, Mezieres and Montmedy, and France is saved. He has reached a position where he can enter upon the decisive struggle.

Le Pays says full confirmation of the good news from the army was received to-day.

The New York World's Dispatches

NEW YORK, August 23.—The World's special dispatch from London, dated August 23 says: All the news from Paris to-day confirm the statement that Bazaine has succeeded in withdrawing the bulk of his army from Metz. It seems still uncertain whether he is moving to St. Avold to join McMahon or waiting the co-operation from there of McMahon. In the former case he is supposed to intend falling in force on the Crown Prince in the latter to attack Steinmetz and Frederick Charles at Metz.

Creditable authority states that Steinmetz and Frederick Charles have lost over 100,000 men, leaving them no more than 150,000 to hold the line from the frontier to Metz. The feeling in Berlin is one of undeniable horror and depression. The war threatens to last and already the flower of North Germany is decimated. Railways are taken up with the wounded so as to delay the movement of reinforcements. Boat service is organizing on the Rhine for the wounded, and three steamers already are converted into national hospitals.

Detailed accounts of the conflict at Gravelotte have been received. The battle field is said to be a dreadful scene of carnage. The country is strewn with dead and wounded.

Better Feeling in France—Terrible Losses on the Part of the Prussians

CHICAGO, August 24.—The Chicago Tribune's New York special says: Private and special telegrams are now conflicting. The general tone indicates a better feeling in France though up to the present hour no account has been received by any newspaper here of a French victory at Danvielle.

The report of Napoleon's suicide from despair seems wholly without foundation.

The situation, so far as it can be learned or conjectured, appears more favorable to the French than for the past fortnight.

The Prussian losses are reported to have been dreadful. Over 200,000 have been killed and wounded since the Saarbrucken affair.

There is no truth in the reported mob at Paris demanding the abdication of the Emperor.

Private advices say the Prussians expected to be in Paris in two weeks, that they have put forth all their strength and are nearly exhausted, and that the feeling about entering the army is no longer enthusiastic.

There is a report to-night said to have come to a French importing firm that King William has sent word to the Corps Legislatif recognizing only that body as legitimate, and that he will grant an armistice if needed for four weeks.

Bismarck is stated to have urged upon the King never to make peace without the cession of Alsace and Lorraine, which the French declare they will never give up.

Mediation of other Powers Talked of LONDON, August 24.—A special intimates that England with Denmark, Austria and Russia will in a few days offer mediation, and that the United States will be requested to join these nations in the matter, because this country can have no purpose but humanity. President Grant, it is reported, has been besought again to prepare a letter to both belligerents.

Paris dispatches declare that neither the French army nor people will accept of mediation.

Steinmetz's Corps Cut to Pieces—French Growing More Confident

CHICAGO, August 24.—The Times' special says private dispatches state that there is great mourning in Berlin at the terrible losses of the Prussian army corps of Steinmetz, which is almost annihilated. It contained the flower of the Prussian youth, and there is hardly a family in Berlin that has not lost a member during the battles of last week.

Prussian dispatches state that there will be no fighting for two weeks, but French dispatches state that Bazaine and McMahon having made a junction an attack on the Prussian lines will be made within forty-eight hours, that the Prussians are only anxious to postpone the fight to fill up their depleted ranks.

The French Loan Taken.

PARIS, August 24.—Upwards of one thousand millions francs have been subscribed for the national loan of 750,000,000. The fonds have gone up.

Minister Bancroft on the War
(Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, August 11.—The State Department has received a long dispatch from Minister Bancroft, relating principally to the action of the King of Prussia in the matter of the offer of the Spanish crown to Prince Leopold. Mr. Bancroft says that as soon as the nature of the proposition from Spain became known to King William he exerted all his influence to induce the Prince to decline it, promptly telling him that in the present condition of the various factions in Spain he could not expect to ascend the throne in quiet, and he would pretty certainly meet the fate of Maximilian in Mexico and lose his head. The Prince, however, decided not to take this advice and gave the King to understand that he should accept; thereupon the King called his council together and then requested an opinion whether under the North German Constitution he had sufficient authority to peremptorily forbid Prince Leopold from accepting. The Council finally decided that the King could not exercise such authority, that Germany was so far republican that nothing in its constitution forbade its citizens from emigrating to other States and accepting office there. The King had thus actively exerted himself in the interest of peace. He became convinced that Napoleon was simply using the question as a pretext and that he was determined to force a war. The King abandoned all efforts and turned his attention to military preparations. Mr. Bancroft feels certain that King William has had no thought at any time of interfering in the affairs of Spain either in securing the throne for a German Prince or by attempting in any other way to control matters in that Kingdom. Our Minister indicates his strong belief that the war has been forced on Prussia without the least provocation on the part of its sovereign.

S[illegible] information has been disturbed says the Pall Mall Gazette [illegible] subject of the Princess Murat, who formed the [illegible] link between the Bonaparte and the Ho[illegible] families. After the 18th Brumaire the First Consul, in order to recompense Murat for his services, bestowed on him the hand of his sister Caroline Bonaparte. Murat [illegible] time being a father and [illegible] widower [illegible] lieutenant of chasseurs à cheval he [illegible] married and a daughter had been born to [illegible] January 1781. The youngest elopement on record took place at Hudson, Mich., lately. Master Frederick Tubbs of that town, aged five years, took Miss Sebermerhorn, aged three years, combed her hair, put the doll's things in a box, and proceeded with her to the depot, where they got on the rear platform of the western bound train without being noticed till the conductor received a dispatch for them. They were put off at Osseo and returned on the next train well pleased with their trip.

CURRENT NOTES

The Philadelphia Day says that the murderer of Mr. Nathan was insane. It afterward adds that it does not believe he was insane, but that as insanity will certainly be the defense, it hastens to get ahead of the other papers.

Prof. Welling of the old Intelligencer, and Mr. Harvey, ex-Minister to Portugal, will edit the new Democratic organ at Washington. It will be called The Patriot and have a capital of $100,000. Harvey has had some experience. He is the enterprising reporter who telegraphed to the Rebels that the Government was about provisioning Fort Sumter.

There is much speculation as to the whereabouts of the Prince Imperial. Some say he is still at the front; others declare that he is in London with all the "Imperial" jewelry; others say he has gone back to his "Ma," at Paris. We don't see the necessity for so much excitement as to the whereabouts of the urchin. The fate of France doesn't essentially depend upon him as things look just now.

Answering the New York Evening Post's argument against the proposed pardon of the Fenian General O'Neill, the New York Standard says:

It is not a question of votes in the fall election at all. O'Neill's offense is a political one, and considering that we have passed through a rebellion aimed at the nation's life and not imprisoned a single person, it is scarcely consistent to detain a misguided man in a penitentiary for a crime not one tenth so great.

The Universalist says that many "Orthodox" people are yet under the impression that Universalists are Trinitarians. An Episcopal clergyman not long since assured us that he preferred Universalists to Unitarians "because they believe in the Trinity." It desires us to know that the Universalist denomination is thoroughly Unitarian and was indeed when the undeveloped Unitarianism of New England was without form in the old Puritan churches.

A New York paper says: The method of packing the tea which is sent from Shanghae to San Francisco and thence over the Pacific Railway, is very peculiar. The tea is placed in small baskets holding one pound each, and three of those baskets are adjusted to the mouths of three others and strapped together. Then fifteen of these parcels of six baskets are made up into a package and securely covered with matting, and in this style the tea is sent to market.

A very singular freak of lightning occurred recently, during a storm, at Independence, Ky. Eight men were at work in a field threshing wheat, when lightning struck the machine they were handling, stunning them all quite severely and prostrating four horses. When the men recovered their consciousness three of them found that their tongues had been blistered, as if they had been touched with a red hot iron. The spots on each man's tongue were exactly alike, and all near the front.

Wm. Clapp of Salem, Mass., died recently from the effects of a particle of iron which flew into his eye when he was a sea captain, some thirty years ago, while hammering a piece of rusted hoop iron. He lost the use of the eye at the time, but experienced no trouble from it since until last week, when the parts around the eye became inflamed and swollen, causing derangement and death, and an examination of the eye disclosed the particle of iron from which suppuration had resulted after thirty years.

The Rochester Union reports that two children were drowned at Niagara Falls recently under painful circumstances. It appears that two employees of the railroad shop at the Falls took a boat to cross to Chippewa, each taking a child with him. They crossed safely and spent the day on the other side. They returned to the American side about sunset, and in attempting to land at the pier the boat capsized and all fell into the water. The men saved themselves, but the children were drowned and swept away by the current over the Falls—less than half a mile distant.

There are at present in the port of New York awaiting orders from Europe, one German steamers and twenty-seven sailing vessels, who may neither pursue their homeward course nor go into the coasting trade. The agents of the companies, according to marine international law, cannot dismiss the crews in any foreign port. These vessels and their crews are, of course, giving their owners much anxiety and involve a great expense. For instance the six steamers of the Bremen Company, averaging 3,000 tons each, cost about $5,000 per day, and the three belonging to the Hamburg line about $2,500, while the twenty-seven sailing vessels may be aggregated at $6,000.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican we learn that a post mortem examination showed that the recent death of a young lady at West Waterville, Mass., was caused by the use of a jute switch, the insects bred in it having eaten through the skull and attacked the brain. Noting the operations of the pests upon the heads of the gentle sex in Springfield, the Republican says: "The disgusting little borers that fill the fibres of the jute plant, whether used in massive chignons or long bunches, are causing a lively and by no means pleasing excitement in various quarters. Finding their way to the heads of their harborers they burrow there until the scalp is raw and in some cases affect the whole nervous system and craze the brain. In this city several women lie in danger of death from these loathsome insects, one of these dwells on the Hill, another on Dwight street, and the disease in its lesser forms are quite frequent."

POLITICAL NOTES

Under Democratic management, the receipts of New York canal tolls, from the opening of navigation to July 31, 1870, amounted to $1,074,539 00—a loss of $304,207 53 as compared with the corresponding period of 1869.

From the Philadelphia Press: According to the first canon of free trade each nation should supply to the world's market what it produces cheapest and best, and should resign to other nations those industries in which it is not so strong. Progress would then be impossible.

Sixty-nine of the Republican members of the present Congress served in the Union armies. Eleven members who served on the same side are classed as Democrats. It must make the latter sometimes feel a little squeamish to sit and vote with men who opposed the war, or with the representative southern men who fought on the rebel side.

D. S. Gooding, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fourth Indiana District, is the same person who in a speech in 1861 said there were, in his opinion, but three classes who deserve hanging, and hell without the benefit of clergy, and they are the rebels, their foreign aiders and abettors, and the Copperhead Democracy of the North.

The President has directed the Secretary of War to extend the leave of General Daniel E. Sickles, United States army, retired by special order of June [illegible] one year. General Sickles being on the retired list is not affected by the recent act of Congress prohibiting army officers from holding civil appointments. President Grant being satisfied with his diplomatic labors at Madrid has therefore deemed it proper to extend his leave as an officer on the retired list.

Hon. O. J. Dickey, successor of Thad. Stevens in Congress from the Lancaster (Pa.) District, is being violently assailed by the Democrats of his District for his vote last winter in favor of the bill granting lands to the North Pacific Railroad Company. This says the Eugene Journal is the way the North Pacific Railroad bill was passed by the votes of Democrats. Joe Smith never uttered a bigger falsehood than when he made that statement.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING AUGUST 2[illegible]

Cheap and Easy Denial.

A [illegible] the Herald [illegible] the following [illegible]:

From time to time a lying ann[illegible] flashed across the wires from Washington informing the whole country that the public debt is being reduced very rapidly through the fine financial engineering of the Administration. This is [illegible] to the tax ridden people and to give them hope that the burden will soon be lessened. But what are the facts in the case? With from thirty to forty millions taken from the people yearly the public debt is fifty millions greater than it was at the close of the war. The returns of recent elections go to show that the country is becoming disgusted with the expenses of Radical rule.

Here indeed is an intelligent and valuable criticism! We have in it a rather more than usually striking illustration of the style of journalism that distinguishes the leading Democratic organ. It is really not to be wondered at that [illegible] the [illegible] Democratic papers speak of the leading organ with [illegible].

"What are the facts in the case?" inquires the Herald. It then proceeds to state them: "Thirty to forty millions are taken from the people yearly." What is meant by this statement? Probably that the people pay every year from thirty to forty millions of taxes. Well, they pay that and something more. The amount raised by taxation, direct and indirect, is something near three hundred and fifty millions a year. What becomes of it? One hundred and twenty-five millions go to pay interest on the public debt. Thirty millions go for pensions. Sundry other millions go for the Indian service, for the erection of Government buildings, for river and harbor improvements, etc. One hundred millions are applied to the payment of the public debt. This leaves about one hundred millions for the ordinary annual expenses of the Government, which, taking into consideration the growth of the country and the depreciation of paper currency, is about the same as the regular expenses before the war.

Readers of the Herald are also dogmatically informed that the public debt "is now fifty million dollars greater than it was at the close of the war." Probably the incurious and trusting Democratic mind is expected to receive statements of this kind without raising any question as to their accuracy. We remember, however, that the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury under the Johnson Administration showed that the debt was reduced by the sum of two hundred and thirty millions between the close of the war and the time he went out of office. We have this much accounted for by Democratic authority. The present Secretary of the Treasury shows by official figures that the reduction since Grant's Administration began has been about one hundred and sixty millions, and bonds amounting nearly to this sum which he had purchased were burned the other day in Washington. The Herald, however, will not believe the "Radical Secretary of the Treasury." Does it believe that he is buying in Government bonds from week to week? Or does it maintain that the sales of gold and the purchase of bonds in open market in New York, at the instance of the Treasury Department, of which we hear every week, is all a mistake? If the Government is buying in its bonds, that is, if it is taking them up, paying for and burning them, we would like to know why it is not getting out of debt. The Herald tries to explain all this in the easiest way, that is, by sturdy denial, after the same manner that a person of some note once denied that the world turns round.

Progress of the War

The French appear to have partially recovered from their panic, and to be making every possible effort to take the offensive and push the Germans over the frontier. The discontent felt toward the Emperor has been suppressed, at least for a time, in view of the great common danger. The French people are patriotic and thoroughly imbued with national feeling, hence in the presence of a great national danger they are showing that they can suppress party and faction and join in a united effort to vindicate the honor of their country.

Dispatches which we publish are rather full of French bluster and of promises to do astonishing things. They are going to reject all offers of mediation, to allow no truce or armistice, and to push hostilities against the Germans with crushing vigor and force. Considering past events and the present situation there is in this a little too much gasconade. The German armies are in the heart of France and the French have as yet gained no important advantage over them. When they succeed in hurling their enemies back over the Rhine and carrying the war and its devastations into Germany they may have something to boast of, but at present their stout words are, to say the best that can be said, a little premature.

There can be no doubt that the German losses have been frightful. All accounts agree in that. From the nature of the war and the mode of attack it could not be otherwise. Dense masses of troops have been thrown with headlong valor on strongly defended positions, and the inevitable result has been an immense loss of life. But the French cannot have fared much better than the Germans, and their losses in prisoners certainly exceed those of their adversaries.

There can be no doubt that Mr Grover is in the field as an active candidate for the United States Senate. Already since his return from the East he is fighting for it. It is claimed in his behalf that he has not been mixed up in railroad [illegible] as Mr Smith and others have been, therefore no objection of this nature can be urged against him. This is very much as the same thing as saying that he amounts to nothing, and that his views on questions that affect the material interests of the State are of no consequence. Mr Chadwick undoubtedly wants to be Governor hence (if he cannot be Senator himself) he will labor to obtain that position for Mr Grover so as to be able to take his place in the Governor's chair. It may be regarded as pretty certain that Mr Chadwick will [illegible] or to persuade the southern members to support Mr Grover for Senator. The Smith influence will also go for him. For if Joseph can't be Senator himself he would like to have the office in the family.

On Tuesday of this week another of Gov Salomon's parties, consisting of two hundred persons, started from Chicago to Washington Territory. The Governor has arranged it so that they come through to San Francisco by rail for sixty-five dollars and from San Francisco to Puget Sound by steamer for fifteen dollars. Still another party will come some time in the fall. During the coming winter Gov Salomon will go East again and organize a very large company to come out in the spring. He is certainly doing a good work for this section of country.

It [illegible] regard [illegible] almost [illegible] that in [illegible] Western [illegible] people there have virtually declared that they care nothing for them. It will not be a great while till they will see in the loss of all chances of obtaining a railroad the glorious fruits of their Democratic victory.

The [illegible] Democratic [illegible] [illegible] certainly then it will be [illegible] will [illegible] the Democratic party has plunged hopelessly into debt and reduced to the verge of bankruptcy.

NOTES ON THE WAR

Doubtless McMahon would like just now to carry the war into Africa. He fights with more success against the Algerines than against the Prussians.

As an instance of the delays attending the movement of troops it is estimated that the French Eastern Railroad Company would require ten days to remove a force of 40,000 men with horses, ammunition, &c, from Chalons to the frontier, even if a train could be dispatched every hour.

The Moniteur says the English Embassy in Paris has received advices that the Prussian losses at Wiessenburg were enormous, "so we may hope," continues the Moniteur, "to soon resume the offensive and cause the enemy to pay still more dearly for his first successes."

M Emile Ollivier, the French Premier, said recently to a Committee of the Corps Legislatif, when the motion for the publication of war news was before them: "Make what observations you like, and vote as you please, but you will not prevent us from killing the journals which would kill and embarrass us."

Marshal Leboeuf, according to a French admirer, has not the boldness, comprehensive power, and ready genius of McMahon, or at least he has never had occasion to show these qualities at the head of an army, but he has the firmness of Pelissier, the Marshal spirit of Canrobert, and the military skill of Niel, whom he succeeded.

Paris believed, when our correspondent wrote last, says a New York paper, that Prevost Paradol had committed suicide in despair at his mistake in taking office under the Empire and Napoleon, "and by his rash act he is said to have risen in public esteem." Perhaps Ollivier, Grammont, and the rest will take the same means of restoring their lost reputations.

Says the New York Tribune: It has been apprehended that the most valuable point of Germany was to be found somewhere on her North Sea or Baltic coast. By late advices it appears that the ports on this frontier are by no means in an unprepared state. One of our letters describes the preparation for the defense of Hamburg and concludes that the city is unapproachable.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

A Sacramento paper of the 15th says: There were four or five young Japanese gentlemen on the Central Pacific eastward bound train yesterday afternoon, said to be sons of distinguished men. They are going to attend one of the eastern colleges.

A printer at Bay City smeared his hand with ink and grabbed one of the spiritual hands that appeared through the aperture of the cabinet at the Davenport Brothers' seance. When the brothers came out one of them bore the marks of the ink on his hand.

The San Rafael paper says: "A Fanjoy, one of the members of the Netherlands exploring party, who have been sojourning there for some time past, while out hunting on the seaside on the 9th of August, shot and killed a huge sea lion weighing some 1,350 pounds. The skin of this amphibious monster weighed 350 pounds."

The California wine makers are pretty sure to reap a rich harvest in the production of native wines should the present war in Europe continue for a year or more. It will no doubt interfere with the production of wines in France and Germany, and create a demand among importers for California wines. While they are considered as yet far inferior to the foreign production they have the advantage of being considered pure, and it would be well for wine producers to make it a point to maintain that reputation for them.

The Shasta Courier says: A party of surveyors sent out by the Vallejo Company are engaged in running a railroad survey from Woodland, in Yolo, to Red Bluff. The extension of the Vallejo road to Red Bluff at an early day may be set down as a certainty, and if the California and Oregon Company should build entirely on the east side of the river the Vallejo folks would undoubtedly run their line on to Shasta, and perhaps make this place a railroad terminus. Both Red Bluff and Shasta have two strings to their bow. If the California and Oregon Company should leave them out in the cold the Vallejo Company will come to their relief.

THE TERRITORIES

Five hundred thousand hoop poles were shipped from Steilacoom, on the Idaho, for San Francisco last week.

Five additional townships are to be surveyed in Pierce county, W T (near Steilacoom) to make room for settlers.

John Colder, under sentence for seven years in the penitentiary for shooting Wm Northover, and Rolland, sentenced for committing murder in Island county, escaped from the Steilacoom jail Sunday night, August 13th. This makes twelve prisoners that have escaped from that jail within the last fourteen months.

The penitentiary commissioners of Washington Territory have located the penitentiary upon McNeil Island, opposite Steilacoom and three and a half miles distant from that place. The land was donated by Messrs John Swan and J F Smith, and embraces a tract of about thirty acres, with running water on it one hundred feet above tide mark, and has good land for gardens, etc, adjoining the building site.

The Olympia Transcript says: It is currently reported that an attempt will be made to have the Indians summarily removed from the Puyallup reservation that the land may be thrown open for settlement. As those Indians stoutly deny that they understood the Puyallup reservation to be only temporary, and have made it their home and have made their gardens and other improvements thereon, we certainly think it would be a great act of injustice to remove them without remuneration.

A[illegible] OFFICERS [illegible] INDIAN [illegible]. — The following letter from the Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs to Colonel De[illegible] Floyd Jones, Commissioner of Indian Affairs at [illegible] Territory, contains a decision of the Secretary of the Interior on the subject of officers of the army performing the functions of [illegible] officer under the [illegible] law:

OFFICE [illegible] INDIAN AFFAIRS,
WASHINGTON [illegible]

Sir: Your [illegible] asking to be relieved from Indian duty, should it [illegible] held that army [illegible] is on [illegible] forbidden by the recent act of Congress making appropriations for the army [illegible] or perform the functions of any civil office, was received and referred to the Secretary of the Interior. The Secretary, by a letter of the [illegible] inst, says: "I have to inform you in reply that no construction of the act of Congress to which reference is made necessitates the immediate removal of officers from the civil service in such time as must necessarily be given to the department to select proper persons to fill their places." You will inform Colonel Jones that he has nothing to apprehend as to his standing in the army from the delay incident to a judicious change of officers, but that he will be released from his present duties as soon as a suitable successor can be found. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM F. CADY,
Acting Commissioner.

Serious, if not Fatal Accident.

Mr Jo[illegible] of Monterey met with nearly a fatal accident at the Russ House. Attempting to bathe his foot in a stationary wash basin, the chair on which he stood slipped and drove his leg through the basin, smashing a tumbler [illegible] and driving the fragments into his leg. In extricating his foot and leg two arteries were severed and reaching for the bell rope he just succeeded in ringing as he fainted, fell on the floor and was found insensible.

Another Casualty.

August [illegible] blacksmith, while at work this afternoon with a helper at the anvil, had his hand smashed flat by a blow of the sledge. Three of his fingers will be amputated.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

NEW SAN DIEGO, Aug 24. — The summer meeting of the Agricultural Park Association commences to-morrow. Some fast stock is on the ground and a good meeting is anticipated.

SAN DIEGO, August 24. — A report has reached here that the holders of the Cuyamaca grant are anxious for a compromise.

Gold dust is being brought in daily from Lower California placer mines. The district extends over a large area of the mesa lands in all the foothills adjoining San Rafael valley. About $2,000 worth of gold dust has reached here during the past week.

Lynching of a Murderer.

GROVILLE, August [illegible]. — C Olson, confined in jail for killing M Logan, was lynched by a mob of about fifty men last night, who surrounded the Court House, overpowered the jailor and made their way to Olson's cell. What transpired there none dare to contemplate. The floor of the cell is covered with blood and some large stones were found in it. They took their miserable victim, wounded and bleeding and begging for mercy, whose cries were heard by many citizens residing near from the Court House, to a derrick at the depot, and there hung him. The appearance of the body shows that he must have been dead before he had been hung up. In the morning all was quiet. The body has been cut down and is now in the office of J Dick, waiting the Coroner's jury.

Rich Gold Strike.

GRASS VALLEY, August 24. — The Hope Gravel Mining Co struck a lead of very rich gravel last night in their claims on Alta Hill. $1,500 was taken out yesterday.

MEXICO.

Mexicans Refuse to Employ Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 24. — The twenty Chinamen taken down from here as a blind, as is alleged, on board the pirate Forward, came back from Mazatlan by the Continental. They proposed to stay in Mexico and work, but it was decided against them by the enterprising native population, who earn twenty-five cents a day when they feel like it, that they would, if allowed, come there and inundate the country and disarrange business with their cheap labor, and they must leave. Captain Jones, of the Forward, having been released by the Mexican authorities, also comes by the Continental.

Release of a Prospecting Party.

The ship Fleet Wing, which took down the Michoacan mining party, will probably be released. The destination of the party is on the border between Colimo and Michoacan, where there are newly discovered gold mines. Their putting into Mazatlan and being so fully armed caused them to be regarded as pirates.

NEVADA.

VIRGINIA, August 24. — Thomas Toll was killed by being crushed between two wagons near Crystal springs.

UNIONVILLE, August 24. — The mines are looking up. A vein of rich ore three feet thick has been struck in the Hector mine, commonly known as the Old Monitor. The quartz mills are all running, and the aggregate amount of bullion shipped weekly is 920 pounds, value $9,000.

Facts of the Census.

Papers in Davenport, Iowa, conclude that the census will prove their anticipations in regard to growth. Milwaukee and many other Western towns will be disappointed. The same is true of New Orleans, where nothing but the figures will make the people accept less than 250,000.

It is semi-officially stated that most of the farming towns in New Hampshire show a decrease in population, while that of the large cities has increased, and it is estimated that the total decrease throughout the State will be about 15,000. If this is so, the State is likely to lose one member of Congress.

The few census returns from Vermont show that most of the towns are losing in population, and while a few gain it is probable that the State as a whole will show a population less than that of 1860. Bellows Falls has 1,797, a gain of 200. The towns of Westminster, Wilmington, Alburgh, Isle la Motte and North Hero all show a decrease in population since 1860. Brattleborough in 1860 had a population of 3,8[illegible]; now it is reported at 4,90[illegible], showing a gain of 1,050.

From the returns already received it is believed that Massachusetts has somewhat increased her population during the last decade, possibly enough to retain her present number of Congressmen, though it is quite probable she may lose one member. Some of the agricultural towns show an increase and others the reverse. The cities and manufacturing towns along the lines of communication generally show an increase. The towns on Cape Cod show considerable decrease.

The Portland Press thinks the Census will show 700,000 inhabitants in Maine, a gain of 71,400 since 1860. The city of Belfast has [illegible] inhabitants, a loss of [illegible] since 1860. Bath and Rockland also show a decrease. In Aroostook four towns show an increase of about sixty per cent, but in many other agricultural sections the towns show a decrease. The shipbuilding towns also lose heavily. Androscoggin county will show a large gain, due mainly to the improvement in water power.

THE PARISIANS AND THEIR GERMAN BEER. — A Paris letter says:

BARK WASTLER ARRIVED. FREIGHT LIST. — The bark Webster, C S Simpson, Master, arrived late Tuesday night, fifteen days from San Francisco. She sailed August 10, crossed the bar on the 21st in tow by the Astoria, sailed up the river to [illegible] Point, towed thence by steamer [illegible]. The following is her list of freight: [illegible] Friedman & Co 209, Smith & [illegible] Hanley [illegible] & Co [illegible], P Martin [illegible] [illegible] Jackson & Co 230, J L Starkey [illegible] 14, [illegible] Burrell & Co 65, R M Wade, Salem 1, [illegible] 29, I Goldsmith & Co 59, Salem 1, M Sellin [illegible] for Vancouver 2, Col J T [illegible] Attending Surgeon 1, Ass't [illegible] Army Quartermaster at [illegible] 1, [illegible] C David Taggart 9, Cape Disappointment [illegible] Adams, Albany 109, Hodge, Calef & Co 75, Allen & Lewis 529, Everding & Farrell, 218, Willamette Draying and Forwarding Company 1, [illegible] Portland Gas Company 9, Corbett & [illegible] Macleay 1,905, C [illegible] Parker, Astoria, 61, Geo L Story 36, Commissary Stores 330, Col Sherburne [illegible] Leveridge, Wadhams & Co 245, Hurgren & Shindler 41, Schwabacker Bros & Co, Walla Walla, 4, Ben Holladay's Mill No 4, 3 steam boilers, S Sherlock & Co 21, W Weatherford & Co, 41. The cargo, about 550 tons.

BRIEF MENTION. — The M E Annual Conference will convene at Vancouver to-day, Bishop Ames presiding.

There are seven prisoners confined in the county jail — four for larceny, one for assault with a dangerous weapon and two for selling liquor to Indians.

The bark Webster brought some large steam boilers and machinery for Mill No 4 on the O and C railroad.

Gov Salomon was serenaded Tuesday night at the St. Charles Hotel by the 23d Infantry band.

All the hotels are crowded full. It is becoming quite a serious question — what are all the new comers to do the coming winter?

A young man who drives the Franklin Market meat cart came near being killed yesterday by falling between her cart and horses heels. He escaped only by a lucky chance.

A big fire in a clearing just back of East Portland, last evening, created some excitement among spectators on this side. At first it was thought so near the town as to endanger some of the houses.

A PORTLAND SHIP OWNER. — Mr Walter Moffett informs us that he has purchased the bark Edward James, one of the vessels which came out here this summer in the Pioneer Line, from New York. The price paid was $30,000. The James has been lying at the dock at San Francisco since her arrival there from this port, having been involved in some legal difficulty. She is a new vessel, only off the stocks two years, and is one of the staunchest built of her class. Mr Moffett is going down by the steamer to-day to have her painted up and refitted so far as anything may be found necessary, and when she is ready for sea he will put her up for Portland. It is his intention to run her in the trade between Portland and San Francisco if business shall be sufficient to keep her employed.

SHIPPING IN PORT. — The Oriflamme will sail for San Francisco at 6 o'clock this evening. The bark Webster hauled alongside the railroad wharf at East Portland yesterday to discharge some machinery for the Oregon and California Railroad Co. The bark Zephyr hauled over yesterday to the steamship dock to take freight for San Francisco. The Tordenskjold is still discharging her railroad iron upon lighters. The Lord de Ros [illegible] anchored in the stream, has not commenced discharging yet. She is receiving a new coat of paint and a general overhauling of sails and rigging. The brig Kentucky lies at McCraken, Merrill & Co's wharf awaiting cargo. The Alpha and Garibaldi are moored alongside Moffett & Stephens' wharf awaiting orders from owners.

PASSENGERS FOR VICTORIA. — The N P T Co's propeller California sailed at 6 o'clock last evening for Victoria and Puget Sound ports taking a good freight and the following named passengers: Gov Salomon, wife and three children, Mrs James, Harned, Capt Spinner, F Sprochull, Miss Holbrook, Leo Hirsch, wife and 2 children, P B Dern, Mrs Pearce, F Cassidy, Mr Schafer and wife, Miss Schafer, Mrs Bray and child, B B Tuttle, Mrs Holbrook, Dr Lamper, wife and 2 children, J A Stewart and wife, T Eaton, Miss M Mulvaney.

REPRESENTATIVES TO THE GRAND LODGE. — Mr P S Ostheim of this city will take his leave by the steamer [illegible] this evening to attend the Grand Lodge of the United States I O O F at Baltimore as a representative of the Grand Lodge of Oregon. Mr Silas J Day, of Jacksonville, another representative, will join him at San Francisco, and they will then proceed together by railroad to Baltimore. The Grand Lodge U S will convene at Baltimore on the 19th day of September.

A BR[illegible] [illegible]M[illegible]. — W H Gorrill, representing The [illegible] Truss Bridge, is stopping to-day at the St. Charles Hotel. A model of that style of bridge may be seen at the office and Mr Gorrill will take pleasure in explaining it to all persons interested. Some of the longest spans in the United States are built on this plan. It is adapted to any length span built and has met with great success, being in the opinion of many the most economical plan now in use.

CHAPLAIN MCCABE'S LECTURE.—The Methodist Church was well filled last evening to hear the lecture of Chaplain McCabe on "The bright side of Libby prison life during the war." Before commencing the lecture he sang two or three songs, by request, one of which—"Twenty years ago, Tom"—was sung with great feeling and effect. He served as Chaplain of an Ohio regiment, and was taken prisoner at Gen. Milroy's defeat of Winchester. The lecture was full of amusing and thrilling incidents of prison life. How they reached the prison and were searched, and were relieved of all their greenbacks and valuables upon entering the prison, by the rebel officials. How they passed the weary days and nights in singing songs, telling stories and playing jokes and games. How that a Frenchman, a German, Italian and Spaniard (prisoners) each lectured in their several languages, and so turned the old prison into an University, and how the old prison partially relieved their minds from dwelling upon the sickening scenes of misery, filth, hunger and death that were devouring them. The lecturer was frequently applauded in a manner that indicated the entire satisfaction of the audience. The proceeds of the lecture, which amount to about $390, is to be appropriated toward the furnishing of the Church.

BARK WHISTLER ARRIVED—FREIGHT LIST.—The bark Whistler, C. S. Simpson, Master, arrived Tuesday, night, fifteen days from San Francisco. She sailed August 10; crossed the bar in tow by the Astoria, sailed up the river to Oak Point; towed thence by steamer Fenwick. Total cargo, about 550 tons.

M. E. CONFERENCE.—The M. E. Annual Conference will convene at Vancouver to-day, Bishop ... presiding.

There are seven prisoners confined in the county jail—four for larceny, one for assault with a dangerous weapon, and two for selling liquor to Indians.

The bark Whistler brought some large steam boilers and machinery for Mill No. 4, on the O. & C. railroad.

... was serenaded Tuesday night at the St. Charles Hotel, by the 23d Infantry band. All the hotels are crowded full. It is becoming a serious question, "what are all the newcomers to do the coming winter?"

A young man who drives the Franklin Market wagon came near being killed yesterday, by falling between his cart and horses heels. He escaped only by a lucky chance.

A fire in a clearing just back of East Portland this evening, created some excitement among persons on this side. At first it was thought so near town as to endanger some of the houses.

PORTLAND SHIP-OWNER.—Mr. Walter Moffett informs us that he has purchased the bark Lord James, one of the vessels which came out this summer in the Pioneer Line, from New York. The price paid was $30,000. The James is now lying at the dock at San Francisco, having arrived there from this port, having been involved in some legal difficulty. She is a new vessel, only off the stocks, two years, and is one of the staunchest built of her class. Mr. Moffett is going down by the steamer to-day to have her hauled up and refitted so far as anything may be found necessary, and when she is ready for sea he will put her up for Portland. It is his intention to run her in the trade between Portland and San Francisco, if business shall be found to keep her employed.

ARRIVED IN PORT.—The Oriflamme will sail for San Francisco at 6 o'clock this evening......The bark Whistler hauled alongside the railroad wharf at East Portland, yesterday, to discharge ... for the Oregon and California Railroad Co......The bark Zephyr hauled over yesterday to the steamship dock, to take freight for San Francisco......The Nordenskjold is still ... railroad iron upon lighters...... The Loweside lies anchored in the stream; has not ... discharging yet. She is receiving a new coat of paint and a general overhauling of ... and rigging. ......The brig Kentucky lies at Ainsworth, Merrill & Co.'s wharf awaiting cargo. ......The Alpha and Garibaldi are moored alongside Moffett & Stephens' wharf, awaiting orders from owners.

PASSENGERS FOR VICTORIA.—The N. P. T. Co's propeller California sailed at 6 o'clock last evening for Victoria and Puget Sound ports taking good freight and the following named passengers: Roy Salomon, wife and three children, ... Harned, Capt Spinner, F Sprockhull, ... Holbrook, Leo Hirsch, wife and 2 children, ..., Mrs Pearce, E Cassidy, Mr Schafer and ..., Mrs Schafer, Mrs Bray and child, B B Tut..., ... Holbrook, Dr Lamper, wife and 2 children, J A Stewart and wife, T Eaton, Miss M ...

REPRESENTATIVES TO THE GRAND LODGE.—... Ostheim, of this city, will take his leave by the steamer Oriflamme this evening, to attend the Grand Lodge of the United States, I. O. O. F., ..., as a representative of the Grand Lodge of Oregon. Mr. Silas J. Day, of Jacksonville, another representative, will join him at San Francisco, and they will then proceed together by rail to Baltimore. The Grand Lodge, U. S., ... at Baltimore on the 19th day of September.

A BRIDGE MAN.—W. H. Gofrill, representing the Smith Patent Truss Bridge, is stopping to-day at the St. Charles Hotel. A model of that style of bridge may be seen at the office, and Mr. ... will take pleasure in explaining it to all persons interested. Some of the longest spans in the United States are built on this plan. It is adapted to any length of span built, and has met with great success, being, in the opinion of many, the most economical plan now in use.

WORK TO BE SUSPENDED.—Mr. St. John, Superintendent of construction, informs us that in a few days, work will be suspended on the U. S. Custom House for lack of material. The bid accepted for furnishing stone has to be approved at Washington before the contract can go into effect. It has been forwarded, but meantime the material on hand has become about exhausted and work will have to cease till the authorities at the Capital are heard from.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Mr. Wm. Davidson, real estate dealer, has made sale of lots Nos. 1 and 2 in Block No. 208, situated on the south ... corner of Salmon and Seventh streets, with two one-story houses on the same, to Col. John ... Walker, for the sum of three thousand three hundred dollars ($3,360) in U. S. gold coin. This property is located in a central and most desirable portion of the city for a residence.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—The work of track laying on the Oregon and California railroad has been going on again, rapidly, since the first of the week, and it is now expected that trains will run to Salem by the time of the opening of the Legislature, September 12th. We are informed that it is the intention of Mr. Holladay to put on two trains a day each way, as soon as the track is finished to Salem.

PROFITABLY EMPLOYED.—Under the ordinance authorizing the employment of city prisoners on the streets and public grounds, Marshal Saunders has had several prisoners at work this week, cleaning out the sewer sinks. All the sinks in the city have thus been cleaned out, at an expense of only one dollar and a half. This is a good job, well done.

ATTENTION GERMANS.—A meeting of the Independent German School Society will be held this evening at the schoolhouse. Very important business to be transacted. To commence at 8 o'clock.

CHINESE LABORERS DISCHARGED.—About forty-five or fifty Chinese laborers, recently discharged from the railroad, arrived at this city yesterday, by the Oregon City boat.

TO SAIL.—The steamship Oriflamme, Metzger, ... will sail for San Francisco, at six o'clock this evening.

MR. BATES' BENEFIT.—The complimentary benefit tendered to Mr. Bates by the members of his company, will take place next Tuesday evening, the 30th inst., instead of Saturday evening as first announced.

The population of Strasburg, eight years ago, was 82,014. It stands upon nearly level ground, but is surrounded by bastions, ditches, outworks, and a strong citadel, which invest it with a good deal of importance as a fortress. It has, also, military establishments, on an extensive scale, including an arsenal, artillery school, cannon foundry, barracks, and hospital. Its manufactures are of the greatest variety, from clocks and hardware to pates de fois gras, and its synagogue, its fifteen churches and its Cathedral, which has the loftiest spire in the world—466 feet in height—and other old and interesting edifices, have attracted the marked attention of travellers. It is only a mile from Rhine to which its defences extend, and is no mean trophy to fall into the hands of the Prussians at the end of a few days of fighting. It carries with it the control of the French provinces on the Rhine, westward to the Vosges Mountains, which Prussia will no doubt hold with an unrelenting grip.

JAMES CASTELL, the present champion of the city of Portland, in Jig Dancing, will dance with any person in this city, white or colored, upon a wager of $50 to $100.

THE great railroad era has dawned upon this State. The locomotive whistle is already heard in our midst. The North Pacific railroad have a regiment of engineers and surveyors in the field, and will soon have thousands of men constructing the road. Hundreds of new settlers are arriving every month to fill up our State and develop her resources. But it matters not how many come, KOHN & FISHEL will be ready for them with all kinds of Clothing and Staple goods. They are constantly receiving fresh supplies by every steamer, so their stock cannot be exhausted. Call and see them at their old stand on Front street.

If you wish to buy or rent Farms or City Property call on PARRISH & ATKINSON,
Corner of Front and Alder Sts., Portland, Oregon.

SPIRITUAL GROVE MEETING.—At Butteville, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9th, 10th and 11th. Good speakers have been secured for the occasion. The P. T. boats will carry passengers to and fro for half price. They will also dispatch an extra boat on Sunday for the benefit of those wishing to go on that day.

Fever and Ague.—Why Shake? PLANTATION BITTERS will positively cure any form of intermittent fever. Travel through any region where the malady prevails, and all who have tried the preparation will tell you so. Thousands of families in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, and on the borders of the Southern rivers and swamps, regard it as a specific for the complaint. Nothing could induce them to be without it, and they begin to take it regularly at the commencement of the Spring and at the close of Summer as a safeguard against malaria. They show their wisdom thereby. The shivering plague passes their door without intruding, to smite their neighbors who have shown less forecast. Every year, however, the number of these improvident victims decreases. There is no teacher like experience; and when a shaking and burning sufferer sees his friend on the next farm or plantation in perfect health, though breathing the same atmospheric poison as himself, and learns that this exception to the complaint is due to PLANTATION BITTERS

Sea Moss Farina from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Be on Your Guard.

The unexampled success which for twenty years has accompanied the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters provokes the envy of ignorant nostrum mongers in all parts of the country, and the counterfeiting business having been measurably played out in consequence of the numerous suits instituted against offenders, a new system of tactics has been adopted. In the South and West especially a legion of "Bitters," prepared from worthless materials and bearing a variety of names, have been got up by irresponsible adventurers with the hope of substituting them to some extent for the Standard Tonic of the Age. In some cases country druggists are the concocters and proprietors of these unscientific and trashy compounds, which are warmly recommended by the venders, who endeavor to palm them off in lieu of the great specific which has never yet had a successful competitor either among the proprietary preparations or the medicines prescribed in private practice. This notice is intended to put the public on their guard against persuasions of parties engaged in the attempt to substitute mere rubbish for the most efficient stomachic and alterative at present known. At this season of the year it is of the greatest consequence that no tricks should be played with depressed and enfeebled systems. Ask, therefore, for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the great vegetable invigorant and alterative, and reject, with deserved contempt, the worse than useless medleys offered in its place. It is as important to the public as to the proprietors of the famous restorative that this advice should be heeded.

SECURE A HOME!!

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock.

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES was made before the books were opened, and a large number of Shares have been taken,

The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and workings of the Association, the location of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready to dispose of shares. As it is with one exception, (the Portland Homestead Association,) the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to conduct its operations. The purposes of these Homestead Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They are dependent for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals—shareholders—and the advance on values of all surrounding lands by reason of the expansion of population and demand for room outside of, but still near, the city. The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the nearest boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Wallamet river, half a mile in length, and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length, the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them,) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square (with streets running at right angles) and 80 fractional lots, along the river front. The shares number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The 80 fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time for the benefit of the Association, shareholders coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held. When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the highest bidder, the proceeds of such sales, after deducting the original price of shares or lots, to be divided equally among the whole number of shares. Thus, if a person wants a particular lot or block, and is willing to pay $100 or $800 premium (more or less as the case may be) he pays it and takes the lot or block as his individual property, the premium being divided among the whole number of shareholders. It will be seen, therefore, that everything is co-operative, and all interests mutual. No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other equal shareholder. There is no chance for loss, unless the property, by some chance, should depreciate far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this particular tract of land must be judged by each for himself; but considering the steady and unprecedented advance on real estate in this city and neighborhood, and at East Portland and vicinity, for the last year or two, it seems hardly possible for values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares. No person is allowed to buy more than the number of shares representing three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and votes determining the operations of the Association are restricted in the same manner. The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all assessments, or they may pay $15 quarterly with an assessment of $3 per share, payable with the first installment, being liable in this latter case to another (and only one other) assessment of $3 per share. Upon the payment of the shares in full, with the assessments as above, the holder is entitled to his certificate and his proportion of all the profits accrued from all sources. No officer of the Association receives any pay for services except the Secretary, who gets $25 per month; so it will be seen that the expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about 60 to 90 feet above the water. There is no part of the front row of blocks but commands a splendid view of Portland and the river for miles up and down stream. That part of the tract lying along the railroad is, every foot of it, of the richest loam soil and adapted to gardening purposes. A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract, affording the means of irrigation, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste lot or fractional lot in the entire tract. Under all these advantages, it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he choose, may get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his interest, undivided, with the Association while the organization may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that the subject of making homesteads on the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is being thoroughly discussed here among all classes, and one homestead—the "Riverside," just south of East Portland—has already been established. The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry landing. It is shaped like the letter H, one side of which, a half mile in length, borders on the river.

From this portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, but is still forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the shipping, and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is very fertile, and is partly covered with light fir timber. A tract of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the west prong of the H (which has already been described) with that on the east. This last tract of land is in a beautiful little valley, which is now under a high state of cultivation. Through its whole length runs a trout brook, the water of which is clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through pipes to every portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin.

Two Homes.

Two homes among the [illegible]
[illegible]
One looked upon the [illegible] hills,
One was near the white beach sands;

And [illegible] from one to
A view of [illegible] hills,
And [illegible] vales, [illegible]
With busy [illegible] mills.

One house stood forth as if it scorned
The [illegible] of hardy shade;
And straight and trim from door to gate
The smooth brick walk was laid.

No flowers bloomed—the lawn was smooth
As velvet from the [illegible];
And down the lane [illegible] poplars stood
In stiff and stately gloom.

The robin at his post sang
Among the cherry trees.
The very [illegible] fields seemed to hate
The free and easy breeze.

The [illegible] were of superior breed,
The horses strong and sleek,
The good wife—ever at her work—
A woman sad and meek.

The man himself, an honest man,
Whose children knew the [illegible]
Hard working, sober [illegible]
And always prompt [illegible].

The other home, through bloom and bough
Played bo-peep with the sea,
'Round columned porch the jasmine sweet
Crept green and fragrantly.

The birds came fearlessly to stay,
And white hands, deft and fairy,
To warbled song and step of health,
Made butter in the dairy,

The simple rooms were sweet and rich
With gleanings from the wood,
The hills, the sea, and everything
Of beauty and of good.

The poet's book, the artist's gem,
Each for its own high sake,
And the gladsome music everywhere
Which happy children make.

Yet lived, beneath his thrift and calm,
Impoverished and cold.

The other shed an influence sweet,
Nor felt, nor knew, the thrall,
For one loved God in church and creed,
And one loved God in all.
—Hearth and Home, Aug. 13th.

A Letter from Germany on the War.

From a letter from Heidelberg to the Boston Advertiser we take the following extracts. The writer says he is a German, but he is evidently one of those who do not like Prussia:

The history of the 18th century tells us what has been the traditional policy of Prussia since the days of that fierce old military despot, who was so liberal a crown prince and so illiberal a king, who played the flute and made bad verses at Sans Souci, shed the best blood of a people to turn a marsh into a European power, and while claiming to be a philosopher signalized himself equally in low licentiousness, cruelty and inordinate ambition. Those who know modern Prussia will not find it too much to say that Frederick, surnamed the Great, was the real creator of that country. He it was who invented that vast military system which embraces in its Briareus-arms the length and breadth of the land, which takes possession of the new-born babe, educates him with a jealous eye to its own future need, trains him, not like a responsible human being, not even like the slave who will be a future source of gain to his inhuman master, but makes of him a soldier, a machine, a morsel of flesh for the insatiable appetite of the cannon. Frederick's spirit, rising up from the grave, stretches its black wings over the millions who own to Prussian rule, and never flagging, never dying, is at the same time the cause of Prussia's greatness and her curse.

I need not here retrace the conduct of that power in the time of the first Napoleon, or the part she played when liberal Europe was struggling to free herself from her bonds in 1848. The iniquitous war, undertaken by her in common with Austria, to despoil the little kingdom of Denmark, is fresh in the memory of all your readers. Retributive justice, however, fell heavily on Austria for her share in that war of 1864, and the punishment was dealt by the hand of her late ally. The arbitrary incorporation of Hanover was one of the first results of the five weeks' campaign, and the victory of Sadowa, while it humbled the pride of the Hapsburgs, laid Saxony, Bavaria, Wurtemburg, Hesse, Baden and the free towns of Germany, at the feet of a Hohenzollern and his minister Bismarck. German democracy has been gagged and smothered by the aggrandizement of Prussia, and German liberty droops her wings and is silent for the greater glory of a despotic king. Nor is it Germany alone that has suffered at Prussia's hands. The military system that, in order to furnish to a second-rate power an army of a million of men, leaves the smiling fields from the Rhine to the Oder uncultivated, and sends Germany's daughters forth to perform the arduous labor of their absent brothers and husbands, has stretched forcibly to neighboring lands.

While Prussia possesses an army exceeding that which any civilized nation needs in time of peace, France could not with a just regard to her own defense remain in the rear. The new military law which was passed in the last session of the Corps Legislatif was forced upon France by Prussia. It passed because it had become a political necessity, despite the opposition of liberal politicians and the groans of a population whose sons one and all will henceforth be born into the world not to pursue the wholesome and natural occupations of agriculture, industry, commerce, art and science, but to wield the sword and the gun, to slay and to be slain. The traditional policy of Prussia is one of absorption, her aim and ambition to rule despotically over the German race. Those who like myself know the people, their manners, their language and literature, are convinced that, although not yet ripe for a republican form of government like that of the United States, they do not need the tender tutelary offices of Bismarck and Moltke to make them a great and united nation.

General Lee as an Abolitionist.—John Mitchel, an Irish exile of some notoriety, and a furious Southern editor during the war, whom the Secretary of War found necessary to "suppress" a few months before the rebellion was suppressed, relieved the tedium of his prison life by writing a journal. This journal appears to be rather a commentary on passing events than a record of personal experiences. The Richmond Dispatch of Aug 4th publishes an extract from this journal which will astonish some of the many admirers of General Lee, and unless the great Southern hero makes a prompt disavowal his popularity will be seriously endangered.

"February and March pass slowly away; the skirmishing still continuing actively about Petersburg, where General Grant is very much at his ease, with his base of supplies and reinforcements at City Point, while Gen. Lee's force is sadly dwindling. At last—a bad sign—General Lee, about the middle of February, on taking general command of the Confederate armies, demanded that the slaves should be enlisted and armed; he would make soldiers of them, he said, and could no longer do without them. The General further urged that the Government should hold out emancipation as a reward. Now, if freedom be a reward for negroes—that is, if freedom be a good thing for negroes—why then it is and always has been a grievous wrong and crime to hold them in slavery at all. If it is true that the state of slavery keeps these people depressed below the condition to which they could develop their nature, their intelligence and capacity for enjoyment, and what we call 'progress,' then every hour of their bondage for generations is a black stain upon the white race. But Gen. Lee, in fact, is understood to have always been an abolitionist; that is one of the Virginia school of gradual emancipation under State laws—a school which was strong fifty years ago, and included many of the best and perhaps wisest men of the State; but their influence has gradually diminished and their theories have been silenced under the pressure of New England aggressive philanthropy. Of course thousands of Virginians remained emancipationists in principle. I know not if there are any men at the North who are aware that Gen. Lee is a better and more conscientious abolitionist than Abraham Lincoln."

The Nathan Murder.

[illegible] NEW YORK SAYS [illegible] $17,000.

From the New York Evening Post, Aug. 5.

No trace of the murderer of Mr. Nathan has yet been found, and it seems that a respectable portion of the community have little else to do but to circulate sensational reports of arrests and fresh evidence.

It was reported yesterday afternoon that four persons were under arrest at police headquarters under suspicion. There was no truth whatever in the story.

This morning a [illegible] report was in circulation. The gossips held that two prisoners had been taken last night to the Tombs, upon whom were found the watch and diamond studs of the murdered Mr. Nathan. The report originated in the fact that two sneak thieves were brought in last evening by detectives, charged with suspiciously entering a house. They were confined in cells, and subsequently ordered up stairs by Capt. Kelso for examination. He requested the detectives to bring the men into a private room, and a sensational reporter, who chanced to be on the spot, took the responsibility of circulating a statement that Mr. Nathan's murderers had been arrested.

Eight hundred dollars reward has been offered for the identification of a man who, on the morning of the murder of Mr. Nathan, was seen to pick up a piece of paper that was lying on the top front step of the house on Twenty-third street. This is a new phase in the case, and involves a curious and important piece of evidence.

The steps leading up to the front stoop of Mr. Nathan's house are sheltered from the rain by a portico, or projecting roof, which affords an excellent opportunity to newsboys for folding their papers on wet mornings. One newsboy has long been in the habit of using the steps for this purpose, and on the morning of the murder, which was, as will be remembered, very wet, he reached the house about five o'clock, and found the front door open. Thinking that the servants were up early, and were going to clean the entrance, he went to the next house and folded his papers there. While he was occupied in this manner he saw a man in a laboring dress approaching with a dinner pail in his hand. The man paused when in front of Mr. Nathan's house, and then ascended the steps and picked up a large piece of white paper which was lying upon the top one. Having secured this he went on his way. A trifling incident of this kind attracted the boy's notice but little at the time, but assumed an aspect of importance when he heard the details of the murder an hour or two later. He at once went to the police and told his tale, whereupon a thorough search was begun for the strange man by the detectives. Hitherto they have not succeeded in finding him, and it is supposed that he has either obtained possession of some paper of value which he is unwilling to part with, or has not yet associated the finding of it with the house in which the murder was committed, or that he has forgotten all about it.

If this story be true, and there is no reason to doubt that it is so, it is clear that the door of the house was open, in spite of the evidence of Patrolman Mangum to the contrary. Young Mr. Nathan, Gen. Frank P. Blair and the newsboy all concur in this important detail, and Superintendent Jourdan himself did not at the time credit the testimony of the officer.

Mayor Hall last night issued the following proclamation increasing the rewards for the apprehension of the murderer of Mr. Nathan:

"The widow having determined to increase the rewards heretofore offered by me (in my proclamation of July 29), and no result having yet been obtained, and suggestions having been made that the rewards were not sufficiently distributive or specific, the offers in the previous proclamation are hereby superseded by the following:

"A reward of $30,000 will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Benjamin Nathan, who was killed in his house, No. 12 West Twenty-third street, New York, on the morning of Friday, July 29.

"A reward of $1,000 will be paid for the identification and recovery of each and every one of three diamond shirt studs, which were taken from the clothing of the deceased on the night of the murder. Two of the diamonds weighed, together, 1, 3/4, 1/8, and 1-16 carats, and the other, a flat stone, showing nearly a surface of one carat, weighed 3/4 and 1-32. All three were mounted in skeleton settings, with spiral screws, but the color of the gold settings of the first diamond was not so dark as the other two.

"A reward of $1,500 will be paid for the identification and recovery of the watches, being the gold anchor hunting-case stem-winding watch, No. 5,657, nineteen lines, or about two inches in diameter, made by Ed. Perregaux; or for the chains and seals thereto attached. The chain is very massive, with square links, and carries a pendant chain with two seals, one of them having the monogram 'B. N.' cut thereon.

"A reward of $300 will be given for information leading to the identification and recovery of an old-fashioned open-faced gold watch, with gold dial, showing rays diverging from the center, and with raised figures; believed to have been made by Tobias, and which was taken at the same time as the above articles.

"A reward of $300 will be given for the recovery of a gold medal about the size of a silver dollar, and which bears an inscription of presentation not precisely known, but believed to be either 'To Sampson, President of the Jews' Hospital, or 'To Benjamin Nathan, President of the Jews' Hospital.'

"A reward of $100 will be given for full and complete detailed information descriptive of this medal, which may be useful in securing its recovery.

"A reward of $1,000 will be given for information leading to the identification of the instrument used in committing the murder, which is known as a 'dog' or clamp, and is a piece of wrought iron about sixteen inches long, turned up for about an inch at each end, and sharp; such as are used by ship-carpenters or post-trimmers, ladder-makers, pump-makers, sawyers, or by iron moulders to clamp their flasks.

"A reward of $800 will be given to the man who, on the morning of the murder, was seen to ascend the steps and pick up a piece of paper lying there, and then walk away with it, if he will come forward and produce it.

"Any information bearing upon the reward may be sent to the Mayor, John Jourdan, Superintendent of Police, city of New York, or to James J. Kelso, Chief Detective officer.

"Mayor's Office, New York, August 5, 1870.
"A. OAKEY HALL, Mayor."

The payment of the foregoing rewards are guaranteed by Mrs. Emily G. Nathan, widow of the murdered man. In addition to these large rewards the Stock Exchange offers a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the assassin or assassins.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the "dog," which is the subject of so much mystery, was photographed at Police Headquarters, and copies will be sent throughout the country. The police still hold to their old theory, and are making every effort to trace the owner of the weapon. Capt. Kelso and the other detectives who are associated with him are to-day busily employed in pursuing their investigations, and great activity is observable around the Superintendent's office. If any clew has been obtained the greatest secrecy is maintained with respect to it, but the search is prosecuted with the utmost zeal, and Superintendent Jourdan will not for a moment admit that he is likely to be baffled. The public interest in the murder remains unabated and everybody is asking for the latest intelligence.

The slow and cautious movements which military strategists were once so fond of are probably not destined to be witnessed again. Why Napoleon did not anticipate the Prussians in their brilliant system of attack will perhaps not be known until we hear his "vindication" of the campaign—perhaps from exile, for if his failure should be complete, Paris would never be a home for him again. The Prussians have dazzled the world with the rapidity of their movements. At first they waited to be attacked, but soon growing impatient, they were led into the very teeth of the enemy, and unquestionably managed to give a good account of them. The same tactics will now be pursued to the end. How Napoleon can hope to recover his lost ground is inconceivable. Probably he would be well satisfied to know that he could save himself from being driven back further than Chalons. At present Prussia stands forth as the first military Power in the world.

The New French Commander.

From the New York World, Aug. 5.

In [illegible] the French forces, as Commander-in-Chief in the field, the Emperor appointed Marshal Lebœuf the Major-General of the Army, a the French military phrase has it, or as we would say, Chief of Staff. There is reason to suppose that this appointment was not very acceptable to the French Generals, and was, in fact, considered the result rather of Imperial predilection than as a prudent choice. As early as the Italian campaign, the Emperor seems to have conceived a fondness for General Lebœuf, and speedily manifested it by making him a General of Division and chief of all the artillery in that campaign. On its termination, he was again favored with the Imperial recognition by an appointment on the staff of the Emperor, and finally, on the death of Marshal Niel, was made Minister of War and created a Marshal. Never having had command of a corps, his elevation to a baton was distasteful to the army, but the will of the Emperor overbore all remonstrance. As Marshal, Minister of War and Adjutant, so to speak, of the whole French army, General Lebœuf had certainly a fair share of military honor at the opening of the present war, but the measure of his abilities does not appear to have been commensurate with the extent of his preferment. The late serious reverses to the imperial arms have so fully demonstrated the justice of the reluctance manifested at his rapid promotion that he has been compelled to withdraw, or the Emperor has been compelled to dismiss him, and the official announcement accordingly is that he retires.

In his place is appointed Louis Jules Trochu, the organization now being Marshal Bazaine as Commander-in-Chief, and General Trochu as Major General of the army. Whether Marshal Bazaine's appointment to the supreme command signifies that the Emperor proposes to withdraw from the actual command in the field does not appear, but it is certain that General Trochu is henceforth chief administrative officer of the French army. That he should, so soon after the inception of hostilities, have come to the front, singularly verifies the prediction of the Army and Navy Journal of the 23d of July last: "Should the war survive its first battle a fortnight, and promise, as seems very likely, to be a long one, Trochu's name may chance to appear at the head of the French armies."

Louis Jules Trochu, born in 1815, is still in the full vigor of his faculties, and has for some years past devoted so intense a degree of attention to a military study of the Rhenish frontier that he is pre-eminently fitted for his present post. His history in brief is—Lieutenant in 1840, Captain in 1843, then staff officer with Marshal Bugeaud in Algeria, Major in 1846, Lieutenant Colonel in 1853, General of Brigade in 1854, and General of Division in 1864. In the Crimea he served as Chief of the General Staff, and is credited by Kinglake, the historian, as the master mind of the French army in that war. In 1866 he was charged with the preparation of a plan to reorganize the French army, the Emperor discerning through the smoke of Sadowa that a new military era had set in, and in 1867 issued the result of his labors in a famous essay that has run through ten editions. Since the issue of this pamphlet, "L'Armee Francaise," his chief study has been the Rhine border, the imminence of a war with Prussia being ever before him.

With his accession to command we will doubtless see a change in the French strategy. So far, conditions have been reversed; and, while the fiery Frenchmen have exhibited the rigid adherence to precedent and the somewhat sluggish movement formerly attributed to the German mode of war, the Prussian army has been handled in the favorite method of the great Napoleon—that is, by hurling it in immense masses on particular points in the enemy's line. It was in this way that on Saturday last the battles of Saarbrucken and Haguenau were won. The Second Corps of the French, under Gen. Froissard, the Fifth, under Gen. De Failly, and the First, under Marshal McMahon, were all in line in the order named, from Saarbrucken on the left to Strasbourg on the right, and yet, while Froissard was driven back from Saarbrucken, and McMahon defeated at Huguenau, no attack is reported on Gen. De Failly at Bitsche, a position midway between the two. The conclusion is that the Prussian troops originally in front of Bitsche were drawn off to swell to overpowering numbers the forces assaulting Froissard on one side, and McMahon on the other. With them defeated, the French at Bitsche would be left with a victorious Prussian force on either flank, and could do nothing but retreat as rapidly as possible in order to join the main body. This form of strategy, being the one originated and employed over and over again by Napoleon I., seems the one that falls by a sort of heritage to the French; but, certainly in this war, so far, it is the Prussian that has has used it. With Marshal Bazaine in supreme command, and Gen. Trochu as Chief of Staff, it is not likely that the Crown Prince will be much longer allowed to monopolize the Great Captain's mode of war. Moreover, such battles as are now imminent must be fought on soil that has been exhaustively studied in its military aspect by Gen. Trochu for years past.

Population of New York City.—The Tribune says:

It has been estimated from the partial census returns already sent in, that the population of New York proper will not exceed 875,000. The Democratic papers are inclined to question the correctness of the canvass, just as they did the State enumeration of 1865, under Secretary of State Duffy. The fact, however, is scarcely to be doubted that the population of our city is not increasing as rapidly as is generally supposed. High rents, difficulty of transit and other reasons, are driving a very large number of people away from New York to the adjacent suburbs for residences. It is not strange that Democratic organs should cry out against the official proof that our population is not increasing, for it affords damaging evidence that their heavy majorities in the city are chiefly fictitious.

It is said that in late battles Prussian spies signalled from the rear of the French army the approach of its ammunition supplies, so that the Prussians were able to throw bombs in among the supply trains and destroy them, thus cutting short the supply of ammunition, so that the French had soon expended their last cartridge.

Curious Chapter of Accidents.—A St. Joseph Mo. paper of the 31st ult. furnishes the following:

One day last week a widow with four children, who lives near Linden, Carroll county, took her children and went to a creek near by to do some washing. After being thus engaged for a short time her dog began to bark a short way off, which attracted the attention of two of her children boys, who went to see what the dog had found. They found him at the entrance of a hollow log, and concluded he had run a rabbit in there, and one of the boys put his hand into the hole, when a large rattlesnake bit him twice on the hand, the second time hanging fast so that the boy drew it out, when the other boy grappled the snake to pull it off, and it turned and bit him five times. The mother hearing the cries of the boys, went to their assistance, leaving a small child near where she was washing. During the mother's absence her child awoke and when she returned she found it had crept to the wash-tub, fallen in, and was drowned. The mother is reported to have become a raving maniac.

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha, so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restive horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to [illegible] this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle [illegible] with small expense. We have [illegible] the [illegible] use this new invention [illegible] in all cases. We [illegible] to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.
